

Nutrition Programs Under Threat

Your Voice is Needed!

People of faith throughout the nation are calling their U.S. senators about the federal nutrition programs in the farm bill. Please join the effort through prayers and phone calls.

Why should I call?

The new investments made in the Food Stamp Program in the Senate version of the farm bill are not secure and will be taken away in 5 years. This represents a false promise to millions of vulnerable Americans, which is especially unfair when funding for millionaires and others is secure for the entire budget cycle. As people of faith, we must speak up to ensure our laws are fair and just, particularly for those who are poor and hungry.

What should I say when I call?

I strongly urge you to support nutrition policies in the farm bill that adequately and permanently fund vital needs for poor and hungry people in our nation.

Talking Points

- Over 35 million Americans - including more than 12 million children - struggle to put food on the table.
- The farm bill must include permanent funding at the Senate levels for the nutrition title.
- Please ensure that nutrition title improvements do not sunset in 2012.
